TILT envisions a Central Texas where people with disabilities flourish as artists through our mission to shatter disability stereotypes through inclusive theatre. We work toward this mission guided by our values of inclusive theatre, artistic originality, meaningful employment, impactful education, strategic collaborations and fun!

TI LT CAN NOW ACCEPT STOCK DONATIONS!

A photograph of a group of people on a stage. In the center, a man in a blue blazer and white shirt holds a framed certificate or plaque. To his left, another person in a black shirt with a TILT logo is gesturing. To his right, a woman in a yellow hoodie with 'TILT' and 'SARAH' printed on it stands with her hands in her pockets. The background shows a brick wall and some stage equipment.

Please email

When we produced Game Night with TILT in February 2020, we had no idea that Austin would be shrouded in a pandemic lockdown a mere month later. A certain irony emerges when one considers that the fun of a game night — filled with antics, laughter, and the most audience interaction that a TILT show has ever included — would mark the beginning of the darkest stretch of time that many of us have experienced in our lives. But isn't that what we do in the theatre? We mark moments. And oftentimes, these moments feel ironic, juxtaposed as they are: the silly with the sorrowful, the frivolous with the powerful, and the fantastical with the concrete.

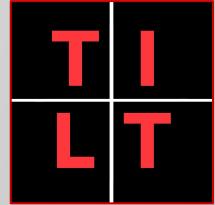

And here we find ourselves, one year later. As we look with hope toward the promise of public health measures taken to quell COVID-19, it feels like the perfect time to relive an evening of fun and games. If only for 75 minutes, it's our hope that experiencing the festivities of our Game Night once more — or, if you missed our in-person production last year, reliving it again — will add some brightness to our collective lives. The show even won a special B. Iden Payne Award for Outstanding Interactive Experience of 2020, so we've put our heads together to make this, our first TILT Treasure, as interactive and special as possible.

Thanks for joining us tonight, and remember: play by the rules (...or don't... creativity always wins at TILT!).
